Last Sunday morning while the Catholic congregation was worshipping at 10 o'clock Mass, a good-sized black snake paraded in front of the pulpit until some of the small boys on the front seats were frozen with terror. The city authorities have had warning signs hung about town limiting the speed of autos to 15 miles per hour. Why should anyone drive through town even at that speed. If one were to drive a horse through the town at that speed he would be arrested for endangering the life and limb of the people. Ten miles an hour is a speed limit plenty high within the city limits.

Marvelous!

Fred Naeter, editor of the Cape Girardeau Republican, has just had his cash assets increase by $104. Eleven years ago he deposited that amount with the Mississippi Valley Trust Company, of St. Louis, and forgot all about it. Under a new state law unclaimed bank deposits must be advertised once a year, and this led to Mr. Naeter's recovery of the money. That a country editor should have that much money is strange enough, but that he should have it and forget all about it for eleven years is almost incredulous.

DeSoto Banker Indicted.

R. B. Monroe, cashier of the defunct Jefferson County Bank of DeSoto, was indicted by the Jefferson County grand jury recently on five counts for having received deposits at the bank when he knew the bank was insolvent. He gave bond in the sum of five thousand dollars. The Jefferson County Bank was a private bank, operated by the late O. M. Monroe, father of the man indicted, and closed its doors on April 6th, last, shortly after the death of the older Monroe. The bank had deposits amounting to about $120,000. Much of its security papers was found to be worthless when its assets were examined.

Sept. 30th, "The Rise and Fall of a Great Man."

Gets Ox Team Here For Kirkwood Celebration.

Prof. Wilson Kerr, superintendent of the Kirkwood, Mo., schools, was in Potomac last Wednesday, looking for an old-fashioned ox team. He secured a yoke from a man named Peter Pitts, who lives near Hopewell. The oxen will be used to draw a large float bearing school children in the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Kirkwood, which takes place on September 30th. The oxen were leased at the rate of $3.00 per day, which, together, with the expense of taking them to Kirkwood and back home again, will make the cost run to about $50. Prof. Kerr also secured an old backwoods weaving loom here, which will be displayed in the celebration.

We add the following from the Kirkwood Courier of Sept. 25th.

"Peter Pitts, of Potomac, is now on his way to Kirkwood, driving an ox team over eighty miles of the foot-hills of the Ozarks, in order to be here for the celebration of Kirkwood's birthday."

Pitts has written a letter to the Courier announcing that he would start early this (Saturday) morning. With him he is bringing his mother-in-law and her old-fashioned loom and spinning wheel.

Pitts lives six miles off the main traveled road and his oxen are used to good grazing. He writes to say that he will arrive here Wednesday and wants to know if he can graze the oxen on the court house lawn. Perhaps not, since there is no court house lawn, but as he is driving eighty miles to attend the celebration, the Board of Education probably will permit him to use the lawn of the John Pittman school building."

Aged Minister Stricken While Speaking at Prayer Meeting.

Rev. John A. Wood passed away peacefully at his home near the electric railway power house, at one o'clock Wednesday morning, Sept. 22, 1915, as the result of a paralytic stroke which he sustained while speaking at a prayer meeting service at the home of a neighbor, on Thursday evening, Sept. 2. The stroke involved his entire right side. He was removed to a few days later and his condition continued to grow worse until the end came. A short funeral service was conducted at the home at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon by the Rev. O. H. L. Cunningham, pastor of the local Baptist Church. The remains were taken to Washington County yesterday and interred in what is known as the old Big River cemetery. A short service was conducted at the grave by the Rev. Taylor.

"Uncle John," as he was affectionately called by a large number of acquaintances and friends, was born in Washington County, near Irondale, on April 17, 1830, and was therefore 85 years, 5 months and five days old at the time of his death. He was the son of the late Gideon Wood, a pioneer settler of Washington County, who immigrated from Tennessee to Missouri in the early part of the last century. This pioneer man was of good old sturdy stock and so was the son whose death at such a ripe old age has just occurred.—Farmington News.

DIED.

Roy Wilkinson, aged 25 years, died at his home in Potomac, on Sunday morning, Sept. 26, at 6:30 o'clock of pneumonia. His remains were taken to Palmer, his former home, for burial. The deceased was a son of Mr. W. J. Wilkinson of Belgrade, and was mail carrier on the Potomac and Belgrade route. A wife and two small children survive him. He was a worthy and industrious young man, whose untimely death is regretted by all.

Will Washington County Stand for This.

The Whaley Bros., who ran a beer house at Frankley, have purchased ten acres of land in Washington County, two miles west of Leadwood, on the Irondale road, and will put up a beer house to serve the arid region of St. Francois County. Washington County has no saloons because no one can get signers enough for a license in that county. The county has had no need for local option, but beer houses erected on the outskirts of the county intended to supply liquor to dry counties will probably force Washington County to eliminate the traffic from its territory.—Bonne Terre Register.
